

ACCUSE U. S. OF VIOLATION OF VOLSTEAD ACT

Allege Liquor Sold On Shipping Board Vessels.

ACT IS EXPLAINED

Lasker Says It Is Necessary To Security of Merchant Marine

Washington, June 14.—The United States government today accused of violating the Volstead act by selling intoxicating liquor on vessels operated by the shipping board.

The charge was made in a letter to President Harding from Adolphus Busch III, of St. Louis, who transmitted a letter from his father, Augustus A. Busch, telling of the sale of liquors on the United States ship, George Washington.

At the same time the Busch letter was made public, Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the anti-saloon league, issued a statement describing it as an "attack by the brewers upon the government" and as an effort to "discredit prohibition."

President Harding referred Adolphus Busch's letter to Chairman Lasker of the shipping board, who declared in a statement today that American ships were exempted from the prohibition law when outside the three mile limit.

"Both from the standpoint of legal right and from the standpoint of the life and security of our national merchant marine, the shipping board has permitted and will continue to permit the serving of liquor on its ships, so long as foreign ships are allowed to enter and depart from our shores exercising that privilege."

Lasker's denial that the government of the shipping board was violating the Volstead act was made in a letter to Busch.

The general counsel of the shipping board had held, Lasker said, that liquor could legally be sold on American ships although the department of justice had rendered an opinion holding such sales illegal.

Lasker told Busch he believed him to be "acting in the hope of creating a public revolt against prohibition," to again revive the sale of liquor in this country.

"I personally believe that you are not animated by any law-abiding motives in your letter to the president," Lasker declared. "It is, of course, notorious that the Adolphus Busch who founded your brewery, was possibly the Kaiser's closest friend in America and that your family for many years has maintained a castle in Germany; your action in any event will not displease your German friends whose greatest hope is for a restored German merchant marine."

After declaring it to be "axiomatic" that American ships are American property and under the laws of the United States wherever they may be, Adolphus Busch in his letter to the president said:

"We are reliably informed that the advertisements of the United States lines, published in European newspapers announce 'Choice wines and liquors' in ships of the United States. The government, however, appears to have thought it unnecessary or inadvisable to take the American public into its confidence by announcing that it had found it necessary, for business reasons and for the defense of the country, to exempt one of its own great business enterprises from the operation of the constitution and the enforcement act. May we not suggest, with all due respect, that if the government wishes to respect the eighteenth amendment and the enforcement act, it should prove its sincerity by setting the example of obedience to the amendment and the enforcement act itself, or change the law."

FIGHT IS OPENED FOR SHIP SUBSIDY

Washington, June 13.—President Harding today opened his fight in congress for early enactment of the administration's ship subsidy bill.

Chairman Campbell of the house rules committee, made public a letter from the president declaring that congress would be convened in extraordinary session to consider the merchant marine legislation if congress failed to act on the measure during the present session.

RAIN FAILS TO DAUNT PLANS OF PRESIDENT

Washington, June 14.—A cold, drizzly rain caused no change today in the plans of President Harding to motor to Baltimore to deliver an address at the unveiling of a monument to Francis Scott Key, author of the "Star Spangled Banner."

Accompanied by Mrs. Harding and Secretary Christian, the president left the White House shortly after 11 o'clock this morning for the trip to the monumental city. He is expected to arrive there about 1 o'clock.

OHIO RIVER WILL SOLVE PROBLEMS OF TRANSPORTATION

Carmi A. Thompson predicts Waterway Will Be Used Extensively.

Portsmouth, O., June 14.—That the Ohio river will be the means of solving the transportation problem which confronts this nation when business is running at full capacity is the opinion expressed by Colonel Carmi A. Thompson, Cleveland, a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, addressing the Exchange Club here.

Thompson declared that modes of transportation other than the railroads must be developed. Water transportation, he said, is the most economical.

The fact that the Ohio river is the only water way of any great magnitude in the U. S. running east and west indicates that, when developed, it will be one of the most important modes of transportation, he declared. It spells a new era for the cities along this great waterway and the state of Ohio, said Col. Thompson, who asserted that "the locking and damming of the great waterway is a step in the right direction."

ASKED TO ENDORSE STRIKE

Convention Hall, Cincinnati, O., June 14.—Organized labor throughout the United States was asked today by resolution to endorse the coal strike and "pledge moral and financial support" to its successful termination for labor.

SPRING VALLEY PASTOR ELOPES WITH GIRL WIFE SAYS WEDNESDAY

Rev. Walter W. Culp Leaves Wife and Nine Children Early Wednesday Morning in Company With Miss Esther Hughes, According to Mrs. Culp.

"I think I like her better than I do you, and I think I am doing the right thing by leaving you and going with her."

These words are accredited to the Rev. Walter W. Culp, 35, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Spring Valley, just before he is alleged to have left his home with Miss Esther Hughes, 18, boarder at the Culp home, leaving behind him his wife and nine children, early Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Culp, left to look after her large family, told the story of the affair to a reporter Wednesday morning.

The Rev. Mr. Culp and the young girl left Spring Valley at 2:30 a. m. Wednesday and their destination is unknown, according to Mrs. Culp. That they did not intend to be married is the statement said to have been made by Mrs. Culp by her husband, who said that he expected to live with the girl as father and daughter. Although frankly admitting his love for the girl, and confessing the fact that they were leaving Spring Valley, he refused to tell where they were going, Mrs. Culp said.

Miss Hughes, pretty and only eighteen years of age, is said to be the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Hughes of Greenville, where the Culp family formerly lived. Her father is said to be a practicing attorney in that city. She has been making her home with the Culp family since last fall and teaching a class of scholars in piano lessons during the winter. Parents of the girl have been notified it is said.

According to the story told by Mrs. Culp Wednesday morning the romance between her husband and Miss Hughes began three years ago, in Greenville. For a time the Rev. and Mrs. Culp lived at Beach, about ten miles from Greenville, and while there, according to Mrs. Culp, the minister became acquainted with Miss Hughes. Later the Culp moved to Greenville and came to Spring Valley from that city last fall.

Shortly after coming to Spring Valley, according to the story told by Mrs. Culp, her husband returned to Greenville and brought Miss Hughes to Spring Valley to make her home in his family. Mrs. Culp believes that the girl's parents did not know of the relations between the girl and her benefactor and appreciated the fact that the Rev. Culp obtained a class of piano scholars for the girl to teach.

Mrs. Culp said that her husband threatened that if she told anyone of their plans before they left that he would carry out the threat she said she did not tell anyone they were leaving but watched them leave at 2:30 o'clock in the morning, in the Dodge touring car belonging to the minister. Mrs. Culp said that she did not know how much money her husband had, but that he had recently drawn his salary as pastor of the church. She said they left at 2:30 o'clock in the morning in order that no one would see them go but that they did not state their destination.

A note simply saying "you can have the children" was left by the minister and found by his wife after he had departed, according to the story she told Wednesday. "I am just going to let him go," she said Wednesday. "I don't know where he went or where to go to look for him and I don't think it would do any good if I did." She said that her husband told her that he thought it was "all right" for him to run away with the young girl because he loved her, and that he did not permit the fact that he was a minister of the gospel to enter into the question.

EUROPE DELAYS ACCEPTANCE OF ARMS TREATIES

Japan, Great Britain, France and Italy Fail To Take Steps.

EMBARRASSES U. S.

Believe Move Planned To Hold Club Over Head of This Country.

Washington, June 14.—Ratification by Japan, Great Britain, France and Italy of the Washington conference treaties, which seven months ago were declared to be the world's hope for perpetual peace, has been delayed for future use as a club to gain American support on their own international intrigues, it was indicated today in official circles.

Despite the air of confidence reflected by the state department, the conviction is growing that the United States with her army and navy reduced will be left in an exceedingly embarrassing position should the other signatory nations finally reject the treaties.

The failure of other signatories to ratify the treaties to date was attributed as follows:

1.—Japan, defeated in her aim of bringing before the arms conference the question of immigration and race equality, foresees the possibility of giving a bargain on the California land leasing issue.

2.—France, piqued at America's failure to ratify the treaty of Versailles and the insignificant role assigned her at the Washington conference, hopes to use ratification as a lever for securing modification of the debt refunding terms, at the time squaring a diplomatic grudge.

3.—Great Britain, conscious of the improvement in relations between Americans and Englishmen as a result of the conference, sees an opportunity to make a better deal on the huge undeveloped oil fields of Mesopotamia.

4.—Italy, convinced that her attitude of supporting the United States during the arms conference, was a complete success is awaiting the psychological moment to throw her voice of ratification toward America at a time calculated to do the most good.

Meantime, of all the nations represented at the Washington conference, the United States is the only first class power to have ratified treaties while the United States and China stand alone among the nine powers as having formally given their approval.

RUSSIA WILL NOT BACK DOWN FROM ANNOUNCED STAND

Bolshevist Principles of Government Will Be Adhered to.

Paris, June 14.—Russia will not withdraw the memorandum presented to the powers at Geneva, May 11, according to an interview with George Tchitcherine, Russian commissar for foreign affairs, printed in the newspaper L'Ouvre, today.

In this memorandum the Russians asserted they would stand by the bolshevist principles of government. Furthermore they repudiated private property rights in Russia, asked for damages for destruction caused by allied armies of intervention and refused to promise payment of the Russian debt, although they expressed a willingness to recognize in principle.

Tchitcherine was quoted as saying: "The interview attributed to me by an American Journalist that the soviet would withdraw the May 11 memorandum before the conference at The Hague is absolutely false. The memorandum represents Moscow's viewpoint and we have never considered its withdrawal. Furthermore we will never permit a commission of investigation to function in Russia."

Tchitcherine was asked about the health of Lenin, who was reported yesterday to be on his death bed. He replied:

"Lenine is sick, but he is suffering only from nervous exhaustion. We expect and hope that he will recover soon. While Lenine is unable to handle affairs of state his position is being filled by Teourioupe."

MINES ARE CLOSED BY BAND OF MEN

Brazil, Ind., June 14.—More than 200 striking coal miners in fifty automobiles swooped down on a number of small wagon mines west of Brazil today and forced them to close down.

At the Jones Brothers mine near Staunton, the men working in the pit made a show of resistance and one flourished a shot gun without firing any shots. At this mine the strikers confiscated six shot guns and compelled the men to leave.

The Seipman, Winters and Targot mines near Staunton also were visited and compelled to shut down. These mines have been operating during the national coal strike, supplying fuel for domestic use and small industries.

Greely, Columbus, who filed the protest, said that Sandles did not sign his declaration and that he did not make the oath attached to the declaration.

A. F. O. L. HOPES TO GET AID OF WOMEN VOTERS

New Non-Partisan Political Triumvirate Being Sought

APPEAL TO FARMERS

No 3rd Party Planned But Attempt to Be Made In Labor's Interests

Convention Hall, Cincinnati, O., June 14.—A new non-partisan political triumvirate—labor, women and the farmers of the country—is the hope of the American Federation of Labor in convention here, it became known today.

An attractive proposal to women and farmers to join organized labor in making a collective voting strength felt most, will be drafted before the national convention adjourns.

The part labor hopes to play in the political future of the United States will begin to take definite form outside the convention hall here today.

United States Senator Robert M. La Follette, Republican of Wisconsin, and widely known as "labor's friend," will address the convention today. Incidentally he will confer with the political shaping factors within the federation.

While here to talk on child labor, to which subject the entire day will be devoted in convention, labor leaders plan through conference with him, to formulate the most aggressive and extensive political action yet attempted in the history of trade unionism, several leaders admitted.

From out of these conferences and later official endorsement action of the federation in convention, will come overtures to women and farmers throughout the country to join ballot force, with the working man and woman.

"No new third party is contemplated," according to Matthew Wolf, vice president of the federation. "Labor merely plans a more aggressive and more extensive political influence. From our convention we hope will come a plan which will be sufficiently attractive to women, the farmer and all liberal minded people to induce them to join us."

THREE HUNDRED ARE DROWNED IN FLOOD

San Salvador, Republic of Salvador, June 14.—Three hundred persons are known to have drowned and many persons are missing following the abnormal rise in the Acapulco and Arenal Rivers, which yesterday overflowed their banks and joined in one stream, inundating the Candelaria district of this city.

A number of homes were swept away by the raging torrent.

The bodies of 300 men, women and children already have been found. The flood was caused by a two-day torrential rain.

The government has sent a relief expedition here to succor persons in distress.

PESSIMISM HANGS OVER MINE WORKERS

New York, June 14.—Dark clouds of pessimism were hanging over headquarters of officials of the United Mine Workers and representatives of the anthracite coal operators today as the representatives of both sides prepared to go into conference to discuss the wage scale demands of the miners this afternoon. It was declared that prospects of a settlement of the strike situation were still remote and that there was nothing in the outlook to warrant hope of an early adjustment.

PAYS PENALTY EARLY WEDNESDAY MORNING

Columbus, Jun. 14.—Two minutes after he was placed in the electric chair at the penitentiary here today this morning, Dominic Benigno, 26, Cleveland, was officially pronounced dead. Benigno was electrocuted because he was found guilty of taking part in the Sly-Farmer double murders and payroll robbery at Cleveland nearly two years ago.

Shortly before his death, Dominic said he would go to the chair bravely and would "die bravely." He declared that he had never "been a coward and I won't be. Death causes no fear for me."

Benigno kept his word. After he entered the death chamber at 1:05 a. m. not a word fell from his lips.

DISCORD MANIFEST OVER NEXT CHIEF AT G. A. R. MEETING

Saltzgeber Opposed By Stewart—Election on Thursday.

Bucyrus, O., June 14.—While the thousand veterans of the Civil War, their wives, sons and daughters, are seemingly enjoying their stay in Bucyrus at the 56th annual encampment of the G. A. R. there is an undercurrent of discord on the selection of their next department commander to succeed to Merrick J. Sloan, of Warren.

Gaylord M. Saltzgeber of Van Wert, pension commissioner under President Wilson, is opposed by Captain Frank R. Stewart, of Fostoria; Frank Sterret, of Troy, and George Playford, of Zanesville and supporters of their rival candidacies are waxing warm in their canvass for votes. The election takes place tomorrow.

A tableaux of Lincoln's Gettysburg address and Lee's surrender to Grant at Appomattox will be presented this afternoon in costume to the public square. Business sessions preceded the tableaux and business will again engage the veterans tomorrow, the last day of the encampment.

The veterans greatly enjoyed the initiation of "rockie" members of the 134th artillery service company, who, during idle moments, were tossed in blankets on the square. The tossing recalled the days of sixty years ago when the raw recruits were treated in a similar manner and many of the old soldiers recounted similar incidents in their own army experiences.

Lewis S. Pilcher, commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., on behalf of the woman's Relief Corps, presented a flag to the public schools. The civic parade, participated in by many organizations, was witnessed last night by the veterans and other allied organizations.

TEAR GAS USED AGAINST MOB IN ATTACK ON JAIL

Slayer of Woman is Spirited Away From Jackson, Michigan

MATRON IS VICTIM

Former Prison Inmate Held After Confessing the Crime.

Jackson, Mich., June 14.—Coroner John Mills is in hiding today with John Straub, alleged confessed murderer of Miss Alice Mallet, following an all night siege of the county jail by a crazed mob—the wildest mob ever experienced in Jackson. The mob was led by the dead woman's brother, Harold Mallet, of Ontario, Oregon, who came here Monday to take the body of his sister home. Threatened lynching of the prisoner was healed as soon as rumors of his confession reached the streets.

Tear gas—the kind that makes the eyeballs feel like they are floating in a lake of fire—was the only thing that saved the jail from literally being burned down with the prisoner within it.

Just before the prisoner was spirited out the rear and while the mob was surging toward the barred doors, a squad of deputy sheriffs let loose a charge of the powerful chemical full into the faces of the rioters.

Straub, former Jackson prison inmate, and alleged pervert, is said to have admitted attacking Miss Mallet with an axe, ravishing and almost beheading her as she neared the Florence Crittenden home, of which she was matron, last Thursday night.

First reports of the confession were circulated at 9 p. m. Within half an hour fully 1,000 people were about the jail. They milled back and forth lacking a leader—held from the building by a half a dozen state troopers with drawn automatics.

Then Mrs. Helen Ryall, a mother of three children, entered the crowd. Elbowing her way to the front, she cried:

"Come on boys. Have you no mothers or sisters? You know what to do, don't you?"

For the first time the pack pressed forward, pushing its leader before it. Sheriff Larrabee, emerging from the building, spoke to the crowd. He told them the prisoner was not in the jail and begged them to go home.

For more than an hour, the mob, reinforced by several hundred more infuriated men, surged back and forth, being beaten back by armed troopers on the steps. Nobody saw the coroner's car slide from the alley in the rear of the jail with three passengers.

Finally deputy sheriffs met the onslaught of the would be lynchers with a cloud of tear gas. The attackers fell back in confusion, rubbing their eyes.

At this moment, Harold Mallet, brother of Miss Mallet, appeared and assumed leadership. He arrived here Monday from Ontario, Oregon.

"Boys," he shouted, "out where I come from justice travels fast."

"I am Alice Mallet's brother. I'd like about twenty men to follow me."

His speech was interrupted when a hundred stepped forward. The troopers beat them back with clubs while deputies again brought tear gas into play.

For a few moments it appeared certain the mob would over run the building. Then the front ranks, blinded by acid fumes, fell back into those behind, dropped off the porch into the arms of the crowd and recommenced the endless surging. The mob finally dispersed following permission of the sheriff for a committee to search the jail.

The officers admitted they had spirited Straub out in the guise of a fireman. They would not divulge the direction in which he had gone.

LAFOLLETTE FLAYS HIGH COURT AT A. F. O. L. MEET

Wisconsin Senator Hears Boom for Himself for President in 1924 and Denounces Highest Court in Address at Labor Convention

Convention Hall, Cincinnati, June 14.—Robert M. La Follette, Republican U. S. Senator from Wisconsin and labor's congressional champion came to the American Federation of Labor convention here today, witnessed an incipient boom for himself for president in 1924 and the unmercifully flayed without reservation the Supreme Court of the United States and the entire judicial system.

Received by a din of applause that shook the rafters of the convention hall, La Follette, unflinchingly arraigned the Supreme Court and portrayed for the hundreds of labor's delegates an United States ruled by the judiciary and not the people.

Above the uproar that frequently interrupted him the Wisconsin senator asserted that "today the actual ruler of the American people is the Supreme Court of the United States! Pandemonium reigned. The sovereignty has been wrested from the people and usurped by the courts," he said.

"The law," he continued, "is what they say it is and not what the people through congress enact. Even the constitution of the United States is not what its plain terms declare but what these nine men construe it to be."

Mention of chief Justice Taft brought hisses from the convention. A declaration by La Follette that Taft had been repudiated by the voters on his record, turned the convention into a wild demonstration against the former president.

La Follette delivered himself of a vitriolic and vigorous arraignment of the U. S. Supreme Court's ruling in the child labor and the more recent Coronado coal cases.

Federal judges, notably Judge Anderson of Indianapolis and Judge McClinton of West Virginia, he branded as "petty tyrants and arrogant despots."

During the evening, addresses were given by the Rev. W. H. Tilford, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, and Mr. Pramer, of the Dayton fraternal lodge, and Mr. Charles Sides, district representative.

Refreshments were served at the close of the program, the remainder of the evening being spent in dancing, and a social time.

BACK TO SIMPLE LIFE BUT LAWS PRESENT PROBLEM

The young Boston couple who went into the Maine woods to live a primitive life seem to have found no difficulty in realizing the main object of the adventure. They have not starved to death after some weeks of isolation; they have been able to provide themselves with some sort of exterminator and they have not been molested by their fellow denizens of the forest. They have had no trouble in getting back to nature under conditions comparable with those known to primeval man.

It was easy enough to escape the physical trammels of civilization. Unfortunately the adventurous pair did not reckon with the difficulty of escaping from the conventions of civilization known as the law, their seclusion is now threatened with a rude interruption by wardens dispatched to discover whether they are guilty of violating the Maine game laws by killing deer and partridge out of season.

That is a main obstacle to a realization nowadays of the perfect expression of the simple life. It is possible to plunge into the forest primeval and to emulate primitive man as respects food and clothes and existence after the simple requirements of nature. The impossibility is to find the remote locality where "the King's writ" does not run or the long arm of legislative regulation extend. What modern imitators of primitive man can never attain is the superior freedom of a self-determination which allowed him to kill game, catch fish or even brew beer in the wilds without let or hindrance.

POSTPONE FORMING OF COUNTY BUREAU TO AID INVESTORS

Due to the lack of attendance on the part of the business men of Xenia, the organization of the County Investors' Service Bureau, which was to have been effected at the meeting of farmers and business men of the city and county, held at the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night, was postponed.

A good representation of business men from county towns and farmers attended the meeting, but those present did not think it worth-while to effect the investors' organization, until a large gathering of Xenia business men was present.

E. C. Anstett, who is in charge of the investors' department of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, was present at the meeting and explained the formation of the county organization. Another meeting will be called to complete the Greene County organization.

"Before I got Tanlac I wasn't able to work over two hours a day, but now I can work from sun-up to sun-down," said Norman J. Wearstler, Ellet, Ohio, a prosperous farmer.

"Three years ago, I had an attack of typhoid fever, and when I got up I found my whole system was badly out of order. My appetite was about gone and I couldn't eat enough to get my strength back. My stomach was all upset and I suffered a great deal from heartburn. I felt feverish, especially at bed time, and was never able to get a good night's rest. I was nervous and restless all the time, wasn't able to do any work except little odd jobs and was so weak that I just felt ready to give up."

"Well, sir, Tanlac seemed to hit the spot and I got better each day. Now, I have gained nineteen pounds in weight, feel stronger than I have in years, and I am a well man once more. My wife is also taking Tanlac and getting good results, too. It's a grand medicine."

Beauty Chats

THE YOUNG CHIN

I cannot imagine why a woman lets her chin grow old. Of course after a certain age it's impossible to keep the chin really firm and young—but I should say that undesirable age was 50 at least.

If you've let your chin grow old, I doubt whether you can ever make it really young again, though you can massage ten years from it if you'll take the time and trouble. But if you're wise, you'll never let your chin show your real age. You'll take a few minutes every day to keep it young.

If you're so stout you have a double—or a triple chin—you'll never have a really young profile until you reduce to your correct weight. During the reduction period, you'll have to massage the chin and rub it with ice daily, or the skin that has stretched and grown over the layers of flesh will hang in loose bags and unsightly wrinkles. But a gradual reduction plus these astringent treatments, will let the skin shrink so a firm smooth line will be attained as your reward.

Otherwise, massage with a nourishing cold cream, and a gentle rotary movement of the fingers, a few neck stretching and head rolling exercises daily, and an ice rub or the daily use of a good astringent, will be all that is necessary to keep the chin young. You need not begin these treatments when you are a young girl, but wait until you are nearing 30, when the first faint hint of a bad chin line appears.

If you've passed that period, wear a chin strap at night and do the exercises and massage as well.

HENRY FORD ON RUSSIA.

"The intoxication of assuming the masterful position of a critic of the social system—which it is every man's right to assume—is unbalancing at first. The very young critic is almost sure to be unbalanced. He is strongly in favor of wiping off the whole world and starting a new one. They actually managed to start a new world in Russia. It is there that the work of the world makers can best be studied. We learn from Russia that it is the minority and not the majority who determine destructive action. We learn also that while men may decree social laws in conflict with natural laws, Nature vetoes those laws more ruthlessly than could the Czars. Nature has vetoed the whole Soviet Republic. For it sought to deny Nature. It denied, above all else, the right to the fruits of labor. Some people say, "Russia will have to go to work," but that does not describe the case. The fact is that poor Russia is at work, but her work counts for nothing. It is not free work. In the United States a workman works eight hours a day; in Russia, he works twelve to fourteen. In the United States, if a workman wishes to lay off for a day or a week, and is able to afford it, there is nothing to prevent him. In Russia, under Sovietism, the workman goes to work whether he wants to or not. The freedom of the citizen has disappeared in the discipline of a prison-like monotony in which all are treated alike. That is slavery. Freedom is the right to work a decent length of time and to get a decent living for doing so; to be able to arrange the little personal details of one's own life. It is the aggregate of these and many other items of freedom which makes up the great idealistic Freedom."

THE STEEL LINE-UP.

Authoritatively figures concerning the steel industry do not support the notion that any merger of independent companies can be a match for the United States steel corporation.

U. S. steel is still, and it is likely to remain, the behemoth of the steel industry, setting its own pace and making its own prices, and thus, informally at least, determining the prices of steel products generally. In a serious competitive fight, it could probably put out of business any possible combination brought against it.

The independents have survived so far mainly on the tolerance of the big corporation. It has been content to let them have a fair share of business in order to avoid the appearance of monopoly, public condemnation and dissolution under the Sherman anti-trust law. It may continue its leadership as long as it pursues this policy. Otherwise, the government will be obliged to step in and do by regulation or dispersion what private competition does not seem capable of doing.

ARMIES.

Those who insist that the standing army of the United States is too large with 158,000 men are likely to learn with surprise that it ranks fourteenth in size among the world's national armies, and twenty-fifth in comparison with the population represented.

Great Britain, with 237,000, seems to have a very moderate-sized army, when her vast possessions are considered, with the necessity of doing police duty in all quarters of the world and at the same time keeping watch over troubled Europe. France has 818,000 men under arms, China, 1,083,000, and Russia first in numbers, 1,270,000.

Small as the American army is, however, the majority of Americans are satisfied that it is quite large enough and glad that it is destined soon to suffer another small reduction. This country, isolated geographically, possessing a good navy and feared and courted by all nations, does not need a great military force to protect itself and make itself felt in the world.

OPEN SHIP.

There is something new in New York in the way of sights, thrills and entertainment. The big steamship companies have taken to holding open house—or perhaps it had better be called "open ship"—the day before sailing. The public is admitted with little or no formality. Visitors are allowed to go all over the finest ocean liners afloat, seeing their new wrinkles, lounging in their luxurious cabins and smoking rooms promenading their decks and dancing in their ballrooms. Some of them give real dances. Thousands take advantage of this novel form of dissipation. It is a rare chance, especially for an inland visitor, to get a couple of hours of sea voyage without cost and without any danger of shipwreck or seasickness.

This is not pure philanthropy, by any means. The steamship people are doubtless moved by the scarcity of trade. The liners have been sailing with cabins half filled, in spite of all the talk about a "rush to Europe." It is, nevertheless, a fine thing, adding to the interest and pleasure which outlanders find in the metropolis; and no doubt it will bring a business reward.

by George Matthew Adams

AGE

It is only as we learn the minute-by-minute, hour-by-hour, day-by-day philosophy of Time that we are able to enter into the serious lesson that Age has for us all. For Age has no philosophy except the philosophy of accomplishment.

Ever as you think, you age. And by that very aging are you able to understand the full meaning of every breath that you breathe, every effort you make, every thought and happening and opportunity.

In the sunset is the glory of the day summed up.

Age is experience—crystallized. Age is initiative—worked out. Age is the dream—come true. Age is the tree—full grown. Age is the business of life in its process of accomplishment.

In your success is reflected the product of each one of your hours. Age is not the mere piling up of years, for many a man is old at thirty and many a man is young at eighty. It is the sum of your days—averaged.

Let the experience of Age be a teacher to you. Let yourself learn to enjoy its ripe lessons. Let Age admonish as well as encourage you. Let it serve you with its powers of understanding, of appreciation, of experience.

Let Age be your friend!

CHANGE OF BASE.

From southern seas the authors come astride of sharks and whales; the island graft is out of plumb, and now it's desert tales. They fed us up on hidden reefs and all that coral bunk; and now they turn to desert chiefs, who're equally as punk. They wearied us with blue lagoons, and damsels dark and fat, and now they hand us Bedouin prunes, and let it go at that. Some gifted damozel or dame produced a Bedouin tale; it brought her seven kinds of fame and fourteen kinds of kale. When this occurred the authors all were earning bread and cheese, by writing stories, large and small, about the southern seas. But when they saw that desert chiefs were strictly in the swim, they passed up all their coral reefs, horizons far and dim. The dusky damsels, promptly canned, were left in native state; and to the wastes of shifting sand the authors pulled their freight. For southern seas I told no brief, but they are better far than is the bughouse Bedouin chief who's now the fiction star. And now for weary months, gadzooks, the desert stuff will reign, until the sandy line of books gives every one a pain. And then at last some chap will write another kind of tale, and all the authors, in a night, will camp upon his trail.

Heard, of Philadelphia, the reports of President J. A. Gregg, Secretary Carl Jenkins and J. D. M. Russell, who was elected to fill the unexpired term of the regular treasurer, Dr. T. H. Jackson who died in November, took up the greater part of the day's session.

ONLY FEW DAYS MORE OF OFFER TO GET DICTIONARIES

A word is the symbol of an idea. One may have the most original and forceful ideas—but without words to express them, they are utterly valueless. It might be said that there are no new ideas under the sun. In the earliest recorded writings from Sanskrit, the Chinese, the Hebrew, the Greek or the Latin tongues, we find the same thought again and again. It is the expression only, that varies. Each age, each nation must evolve its own form of expression, or symbolism in its literary art. The universal mind in this way frees itself by the individual genius, which has caught its meaning. Thus words may be said to be the tools of thought. Word study therefore, is one of the most important elements of education. And the dictionary which gives the derivation, the different shades of meaning, the transition in modes of spelling; in short the history of the word, is the one indispensable workshop for the worker in words. Among all the eras of dictionary making, the present excels. And there is no excuse for anyone not to possess a valuable dictionary. The New Universities Dictionary now being distributed by this paper, easily chief among the dictionaries of its class. Our distribution has been wide and far reaching. We regret that the time gets near when we can no longer get this wonderful book for our readers, on the terms hitherto prevailing. We hope that those who have not yet gotten it will avail themselves of the unusual opportunity presented today. The coupon published daily in our columns explains the method of acquiring it.

NATION'S GASOLINE RESERVE CONTINUES ITS CLIMB

Washington, June 14.—The nation's gasoline reserve is continuing its record climb, stocks on hand on May 1, amounting to $92,267,756 gallons, an increase of 38,000,000 gallons over the previous high record mark of April 1, the bureau of mines announced today.

While production records are being broken, gasoline consumption has also taken an upward spurt. Domestic production in April registered an increase of 10.96 per cent over that of April, 1921, while domestic consumption of this product in April showed an increase of 11.57 per cent over the consumption figures for April, 1921.

MUST MARK BALLOTS WITH LEAD PENCIL TO BE LEGAL

Columbus, June 14.—Election ballots must be marked in black lead pencil, the supreme court held yesterday in an election contest case brought by William H. Tucker, who claimed to have defeated Thomas C. Devine, for councilman in the Ninth ward, Toledo, two years ago. Each received 1866 votes. Tucker sued to have one ballot counted for him, which was marked in ink. The court of appeals held the vote legal, which gave him a plurality of one. The supreme court reversed the decision.

APARTMENT HOUSE ON WEST MAIN HAS NEW NAME

The name "Mooreland" for the well known apartment house on West Main street, has been changed to "Scotburn Apartments" according to the announcement of Frank Davidson, owner of the building, Wednesday. The apartment house has undergone several weeks of remodeling the building being recently painted in French gray, while electric lights in front bear the name "Scotburn." ## BE RID OF THAT ACHE

If you are a sufferer with lame back, backache, dizziness, nervousness and kidney disorders, why don't you try the remedy that your own neighbors recommend?

Mrs. Lee Ledbetter, 137 Hill St., Xenia, says: "I was miserably run down, especially when I arose in the morning. My back was weak and the least exertion tired me. I bought Doan's Kidney Pills at Sayre & Hemphill's Drug Store and received immediate relief. It was but a short time until Doan's cured me entirely of this trouble. The fact that I have not had any symptom for several years gives me reason to believe that Doan's have effected a permanent cure."

Mrs. Ledbetter gave the above statement Aug. 2, 1917, and on Aug. 15, 1921, she added: "I am very glad to again recommend so reliable a kidney remedy as Doan's Kidney Pills. They have made a permanent cure for me and I have had no occasion to use Doan's since they cured me several years ago. I am glad to confirm my statement of 1917."

A GOOD DINNER PREPARED FROM LEFT-OVERS

Fish Souffle Potato Pie
Baconed Brussels Sprouts
Coffee Fruit Tapioca
Fish Souffle: Chop any kind of cold cooked fish finely and shred it so that it is in tiny flakes (there should be about three-quarters of a cup of it, although one-half cup will do.) Put one-half cup of stale bread crumbs into a saucepan with two-thirds of a cup of sweet milk and let boil for five minutes; then add the flaked fish, one tablespoon of butter, salt to suit taste, remove from range and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs. Now turn the mixture into four small individual baking dishes, or ramekins, and place these in a shallow pan containing hot water. Cover all with buttered paper and place the pan in a moderate oven. Let bake till the souffle is firm, then turn the molds out onto a hot platter and serve with a plain hot, white sauce.
Potato Pie: Boil till tender four peeled and sliced onions, then drain and place in a baking dish with six or eight cold cooked and sliced potatoes. Add one teaspoon of chopped parsley, one tablespoon of butter in little bits, salt and pepper to suit taste, and a drop or two of tomato catsup. Put an inverted cup in the middle of the dish (not letting any of the mixture get under it) and place over all a crust for any Vegetable or Meat crust made as follows:

Pie: Sift together one pint of flour, two heaping tablespoons of baking powder, and one-fourth teaspoon of salt, then work into this dry mixture, with the fingers, one heaping tablespoon of butter. Wet to a stiff dough with a little sweet milk and roll out as nearly round as possible. Place on the dish and let bake in a hot oven about 40 minutes.

Baconed Brussels Sprouts: (A delicious way of serving this vegetable.) Fry six slices of bacon till crisp, then lift them out of the pan to drain on crumpled brown paper in the oven, for a few moments. Now put a scant quart of cold cooked brussels sprouts into the fry these until sizzling hot and beginning to color. Take them out, place them in a warm serving dish, sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper, and lay the six crisp bacon-slices over them. Serve at once.

A NOTICE FOR KNITTERS: A reader of this column has written me to suggest that my other women readers who have odds and ends of yarn which they do not need for their own use, might send these left-overs to their nearest blind association, or to organizations where the aged, the convalescent, or the orphaned could use them in making salable articles. If any reader does not know address of such an organization, I will gladly send her one upon receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Tomorrow—The Safest Way to Can Peas.

Styles BY LENORE

It is a lovely season when a gown can achieve such a charming result with so little effort; the model in this sketch indicates. A well-known Fifth Avenue shop displayed crepe de chine, and the only trimming was a most attractive looking garniture made of different colored ribbons made up into small flat roses.

The bodice in the back was slightly bloused at the waistline, and all the edges, including the graceful cas-

INDIANA MAN SLATED TO SUCCEED FESS IN JOB

Washington, June 14.—Congressman Will R. Wood of Indiana, is slated to succeed Simeon D. Fess of Ohio, as Chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee.

Dr. Fess informed his colleagues yesterday that he would resign as Chairman of the committee next week to enter actively into his campaign for the Republican nomination for United States Senator from Ohio. John Q. Tilson, Congressman from Connecticut, also is being mentioned as his successor, but the majority of the committee are said to favor Mr. Wood.

Dr. Fess has served two terms as Chairman. He took charge in 1918, and under his leadership the Republicans won control of the House. In 1920 the party rolled up the biggest majority it ever has known. Dr. Fess returned late yesterday from Ohio, where he has been on a speech-making campaign. He is to depart again tonight for East Youngstown, where he is scheduled to make two speeches the following day.

Thursday he is to make two speeches at Youngstown, one before the Kiwanis Club. It is understood his campaign headquarters at Columbus has booked him for several more speeches before he returns to Washington.

W. C. T. U. PROTESTS FARM ACCEPTANCE AT MEETING TUESDAY

Thirty-five members of the Greene County Executive of the W. C. T. U., in session at the home of Mrs. Walter L. Dean on West Market Street, Tuesday, at an all day meeting passed a resolution, protesting against the proposed action of the Greene County Board of Commissioners taking over the Bryan Farm at Yellow Springs, "because of that clause, which forbids of religious exercises or Bible services being on that land."

The meeting was presided over by the County President, the program of the day being conducted informally. Plans were made for the Institute to be held at the Second United Presbyterian Church, July 12, when Dr. Merrill, of Columbus, head of the maternity department of the State Department of Health will make an address. Another important speaker of the program will include Mrs. Lillian Burt, State Public Health official. Attorney C. C. Maxwell, of Zanesville, will address the meeting on the Law Enforcement program. The plans for the meeting include a report from some one in the city, who attended the International Council of Women Voters. The remainder of the meeting was devoted to a discussion of business matters.

GOLDSTEIN OBJECT OF ANOTHER ROW

Washington, June 14.—Nat Goldstein, of St. Louis, was the subject of another bitter row in the senate this afternoon. Senator Harrison, Democrat of Mississippi, criticized a letter written by President Harding to Goldstein saying he had been "unreservedly attacked" for his connection with the campaign fund during presidential primaries in 1920.

Senator Spencer, Republican of Missouri, came to Goldstein's defense, charging Harrison with a "cowardly attack" on Goldstein.

Harrison objected to Spencer's remarks and appealed to Vice President Coolidge to call the Missouri senator to order.

LUTHERAN MISSION IN CHINA REPORTED LOOTED

Shanghai, June 13.—According to reports received here today by the Vernacular Press, the Norwegian Lutheran mission at Luchan, in the province of Honan, was looted and completely destroyed by bandits.

Six foreigners were taken prisoners, the report stated, but all have been released except Miss Staureth who is being held for ransom.

Many buildings were burned by the looting bandits, the advices said.

SHIP SUBSIDY LEGISLATION DRAWS FIRE OF ORGANIZED LABOR TUESDAY

Convention Hall, Cincinnati, O., June 13.—Ship subsidy legislation pending in congress and backed by President Harding and his administration, became the object of vigorous attack by organized labor at today's session of the American Federation of Labor's annual convention.

Condemned by resolution, as inimical to public interest and destructive of the nation's aspirations as a seapower, delegates launched into lengthy debate on the merits of the measure.

The ship subsidy proposal, in support of which President Harding personally appealed to congress, was asserted by the resolution to be a "cunningly devised scheme to enrich certain ship owners," and furnish political patronage.

Andrew Furuseth, president of the seaman's union began an impassioned attack on the measure as a "perfect plan for loot." The convention unanimously adopted the resolution. It also voted to appraise Senate and House officials of its action.

Though late in opening because of heavy rain, today's meeting witnessed the convention's machinery working smoothly. Committee reports were received while other committees began their work.

The federation treasury has a balance of $198,794.68 report of the auditing committee disclosed. Of this amount $175,378.88 is in the defense fund for the local trade and federal labor unions and can be used to pay benefits only in case of a strike or lockout. For the fiscal year May 1, 1921 to April 30, 1922, receipts of the federation amounted to $583,120.03 and expenses $562,588.07. The defense fund spent $32,815.24 during that period.

"I challenge a comparison with Labor convention here this afternoon open finance methods by thenoon by the British and Dominion 'open shoppers,' the chambers of of Canada fraternal delegates.

commerce, the boards of trade, and all the other capitalistic organizations to make such a clean showing," declared President Gompers.

"American labor has lost nothing in spite of every effort of our enemies could bring to bear," Samuel Gompers, president of the A. F. O. L., declared in a statement issued today to refute assertions that labor had lost nearly a million members during the past year.

"In 1920, the year in which our membership was highest, we reported 4,078,740," said Gompers. "We now report 3,195,651. One fact to which I wish to point is that this is a membership of more than a million over the figure for the last pre-war year. Those unions which seem to show a loss are the unions most heavily engaged in war work, fortunately no longer necessary. War plants are closed and in some cases whole industries are out of business. Thousands of workers have been forced into other occupation. Navy yards are a good example.

"We know that there are 3,195,651 members who are paying dues and that is all we can report. We do not know how many members are not paying dues, due to unemployment and therefore we do not know actually what number of workers belong to our affiliated organizations. The real loss of membership, if any, is trifling, running to a few hundred or perhaps a few thousands at most. In view of conditions the showing is remarkable and is worthy of deep study by those who seek the destruction of our movement.

Pleas for internationalism in the organized labor movement as best means of averting possible future wars and accomplishing unity and advancement in trade unionism, were made to the American Federation of Labor convention here this afternoon open finance methods by thenoon by the British and Dominion 'open shoppers,' the chambers of of Canada fraternal delegates.

DEMANDS EARLY BONUS ENACTMENT

Washington, June 14.—Following a ringing demand by Senator Kendrick, Democrat of Wyoming, in the senate yesterday that congress should provide the soldiers' bonus without further delay, Senator Ladd, Republican of North Dakota denounced the McCumber insurance plan as a "bread pill for the soldiers."

"They have asked for meat and have been given a stone," said Ladd. "I can see where the plan can reach to the general good of the bankers of the country."

As an amendment to the McCumber bill, Ladd proposed a straight cut cash bonus as a substitute for the house saving certificate plan by the issuance of treasury notes to the amount of $2,500,000,000, "or as much thereof as may be necessary to pay the soldiers their compensation in cash."

The notes would be retired over a period of twenty five years.

FEARS ARE EXPRESSED FOR SAFETY OF PRIVATE YACHT

Balboa, Panama Canal Zone, June 14.—The yacht Invader of Santa Barbara, Cal., which cleared the Panama Canal on March 25, for the south sea, is missing and fears were expressed today for her safety.

No incoming ships report having seen the Invader nor of having heard of her.

FOUR DANCING FEET

BY JANE PHLEPS

MRS CUMMINGS ADVISES
GERTIE
CHAPTER 70

The position secured by her teacher for Jennie, had opened a new, a hopeful vista to Gertie.

"I worried something awful, Jennie about you. I was so afraid if I married and went away you would have to give up going to school and I do so want you to be graduated. I worried even after Tom said he'd lend you the money for your clothes and books, because we never have run in debt, and I was afraid it would worry you and Ma. But you are getting along so nicely; are so smart at teaching I believe you can get backward children to teach, not so many hours, but perhaps you could get one to help say an hour a day. People pay real good for helping their children."

"I thought of that too, Gertie. It's so nice to earn money, I feel so rich with my $50 a month."

"But you mustn't want to earn money so badly you'll give up wanting to be a real teacher in a big school!" Gertie returned fearful for her cherished plan.

"No danger! But if I could get along without borrowing from Tom, wouldn't it be great? I know, Ma hates the idea, even if he's going to be one of the family."

"Ma hates owing anyone. She has told me many times, that Pa used to say, 'You can get along without having things, but you can't get along if you have debts.' I guess Pa was pretty strict about such things, Ma has always been so careful not to owe."

"I'm going to tell teacher what you said about getting some one to help an hour a day. She'll know if I can."

"I couldn't go—couldn't get married Jennie, if I wasn't sure you'd learn to be a teacher. A real one, so you can help Ma. By the time you will want to get married Tom will be old enough to help her."

"Me married?—Don't you know teachers are mostly old maids?" Jennie returned with a laugh.

"Not unless they want to be I guess. If you ever do get married, I hope it will be someone nice."

"Like your Tom?"

"Yes—Like Tom."

During the Summer these two sisters had grown closer together than ever before. The thoughts of losing Gertie, of being the oldest at home had matured Jennie. Already she was assuming the airs and grace of the eldest daughter much to Gertie's amusement.

Two thoughts were constantly in Gertie's mind in spite of her great happiness, and the reassuring love-letters she received from Tom: one the wonder how he ever stooped to love her, to want her for his wife; the other—how the family, her mother, were to get along without her financial help.

Mrs. Cummings tried in her homely practical way to reassure her.

"You mustn't talk that way about Tom, nor feel that way neither. You are a good girl, and a smart girl. You ain't educated, but you has done the best you could educate yourself, and you talks most as good as Jennie's teacher. And no man, not even your Tom, is stoopin' nole when he gits a good innocent girl to marry him. If he's the right kind of a man he never thinks he is either. And, Gertie, don't you never say them things to him, like you say to me, about not being good enough for him, not in his class, and his stoopin'. He ain't no saint if he is good man, better'n most, and if you keep sayin' such things to him maybe he'll come to believe them. Not meanin' to, but if you tell things all the time like you believed em, others is like to get believin' them too."

"I'll try not to say such things to him, but I can't help wonderin'. He's—so different—rich—and everything. He could marry any one."

"He wouldn't have asked you if he hadn't wanted jus' you. Nobody made him. And as far as our gettin' along without you, don't you fret none. You done for us always, since you was a mite of a girl. You ain't no call to worry. Jennie is older than you was when you took the family on your shoulders, and Tim's a boy, and soon will be a lot of help. We've always done right, and the good God ain't going to let us suffer because you're happy. If we needs it so Jennie can be a teacher we'll do what Tom said. Take enough to help her out, and pay him interest like any man would. So please don't worry no more. I feel bad enough knowin' you're going way off where the Indians live without feelin' worse because worryin' all the time."

"The Indians won't bother me, Ma, and I'll try not to worry any more. I didn't think I was making you unhappy—I will remember all you've told me too,—I mean about Tom."

Tomorrow—Mrs. Cummings and Jennie see Gertie Dance.
